

PRODUCTION SOLUTIONS PROFESSIONAL SERVICES PRISMA WORKFLOW

EXPAND YOUR CAPABILITIES AND FURTHER STREAMLINE YOUR PRINT PRODUCTION OPERATIONS

You've invested in an industry-leading production solution to support your digital printing needs and expand your capabilities. Now it's time to maximize this investment and begin your implementation and training program. The Canon Solutions America Professional Services team is comprised of a group of experienced professionals and subject matter specialists who work with your team to assist with the timely setup and implementation of your PRISMA solution.

Your Business Considerations

There are a number of factors and working parts associated with successful workflow implementation:

- 1 Migrating existing documents into the new system architecture
- 2 Establishing new standard operating procedures and processes
- 3 Reducing the learning curve for internal users and clients
- 4 Ensuring the system is set up and configured properly for both prepress and production functionality

A PROVEN PROCESS TO DRIVE RESULTS

The Canon Solutions America Professional Services team has a proven methodology to help customers implement and optimize their workflow capabilities.

The team will work with you to identify your unique set of production requirements and agree on the goals of your organization with respect to the PRISMA solution implementation. This includes reviewing the various types of media and output you're looking to achieve, and building a customized installation, testing, and workflow training program for your organization.

Most of training is done onsite, over a one- or two-day period. In addition to hands-on training with your key staff members, system recommendations can be developed and implemented, in order to help further streamline your processes and learning curves with PRISMA solutions.

YOUR PRISMA SERVICES TRAINING AND INSTALLATION PLAN

As a world leader in production digital printing solutions, the Professional Services team has worked with a broad range of clients, from commercial printers to in-house printing centers, reproduction departments, and direct mailers. Canon Solutions America's experience in these various markets allows for tailored installation, training and ongoing support program that's unique to your industry as well as your business, service programs, and production printing objectives.
