

CREATING A REMOTE LEARNING EXPERIENCE IN HIGHER EDUCATION

When campuses were shuttered due to COVID-19, higher education faculty and staff had to quickly adapt to a new work environment — their homes. As education institutions shift their learning environments to remote settings there is still a need to ensure business continuity. Canon's printers, scanners, cloud-based software and security solutions offer everything needed for a seamless and secure work day now and in the future. This ensures faculty and staff can focus on their No.1 priority: improving student success.

OF HIGHER EDUCATION DECISION-MAKERS SAY THE TOP DRIVER FOR THEIR CAMPUS GOING DIGITAL IS IMPROVING STUDENT RETENTION, SUCCESS AND COMPLETION RATES.*

Desktop Printing

imageCLASS desktop printers have a small footprint and are simple to set up so faculty and staff can get to work quickly and perform the same workflows at home as they would in the classroom or office.

Document Imaging

imageFORMULA mobile and office document scanners enable faculty and staff to capture, store and share information from anywhere. Instructors and administrators can easily convert paper documents to digital to support an online learning environment.

of higher education decision-makers say administrative offices are the area in greatest need of digital transformation on their campus. Canon solutions support digital workflows at the office or at home.*

Software Solutions

Cloud-based content management solutions allow faculty and staff to access critical information in the office, on the web or on the go. Employees can create, edit and share documents across platforms and devices, supporting collaboration outside an office environment.

Security Awareness

A dedicated concierge service executes and measures cybersecurity awareness training to help combat malicious online and email threats while faculty and staff are remote.

48%

of higher education decision-makers have concerns about data security in a digital environment. Canon offers secure end-to-end document workflows and cybersecurity awareness training to ensure critical information remains protected.*
